Editors Meet With the Code Conference

Discuss Putting New Constitution Before People—James Todd and Fred Hull There.

Jefferson City, July 21.—Representatives of the Missouri Press Association met Thursday night with the committee on subscription and public address of the constitutional convention to discuss methods for presenting the new constitution to the voters. The convention is expected to complete its work the last of next month.

The editors presented a proposal for submitting the proposed constitution through the newspapers of the state at a cost of about $40,000. The plan calls for three insertions in all papers having a circulation of more than five hundred and established for more than one year. In return the editorial association will recommend the papers give free of charge two insertions of display advertising bringing out the strong points of the new code. Display advertising in the metropolitan newspapers also is included in the plan.

Members of the convention committee suggested the code be advertised in supplements distributed with the newspapers and by printed pamphlets. This could be done at a relatively small cost. The plan submitted by the editors probably will not be adopted as a whole, if at all.

The following editors were here for the conference: Dwight Brown of Poplar Bluff, president of the press associated; J. F. Hull and James Todd of Maryville; C. L. Hobart of Holden; H. S. Sturgis of Neosho; H. R. Spencer, of Princeton; Harry Denman of Farmington; Asa W. Butler of Albany; Miss Anna Nilen of Monroe City and W. L. Nelson and Edward Watson of Columbia.

85TH BIRTHDAY FOR STAR CARMICHAEL

A HUNDRED FRIENDS AND RELATIVES HELP HIM CELEBRATE

CHAS.F. M'CAFFREY SPOKE

Friends Honor Well-Known and Well-Liked Nodaway Countian At His Pickering Home Last Night.

Almost a hundred friends and relatives of "Uncle Star" Carmichael, well-known, and well-liked Nodaway County fisherman, fox hunter and wolf hunter, gathered at his home in Pickering last night with bulging baskets of eatables to help him celebrate his eighty-sixth birthday.

For the fourth time in as many years "Uncle Star's" friends and relatives came in last night to enjoy a picnic birthday dinner with him and to wish him many more years of such happiness as he has enjoyed in the past.

Everyone brought baskets of the most appetizing home cooking which was spread out on a long table that reached the full length of one side of the yard. Seven of Mr. Carmichael's children were present with their families. Two of his children living at a distance were unable to come. The children present were: Joe Carmichael, Thomas Carmichael, Mrs. Joe Lamport, Mrs. James Carter, Mrs. Albert Royston, Mrs. John Bookman, and Mrs. John Young, with whom he lives. He has nine children, nineteen grandchildren, thirty great grandchildren.

In addition to being the honor guest, "Uncle Star" was the oldest person present. He has lived in Missouri sixty-four years. Among other distinguished guests for their age were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hostetter of Pickering, formerly of Maryville. Mrs. Hostetter is 84 years old and Mr. Hostetter is 85 years old. Last month this couple celebrated their sixty-seventh wedding anniversary.

While the meal was being served the band of the Leonard Players, tent show came down to the house and gave a concert. It happened that the same band was in Pickering last year at the time of Mr. Carmichael's birthday and gave a concert then.

After the meal was served Charles F. McCaffrey of Maryville gave a talk in which he expressed the well-wishes of all the guests to Mr. Carmichael. The following is his talk:—

"When the day is done, and the gold of evening meets the dusk of night, under the silent stars, we meet in this friendly gathering to commemorate the life of our worthy friend, the principal part of which has been spent among us; to commemorate with him a life well lived and full of noble acts, a life which to us, his friends, is an inspiration. We who know him well, are proud to call him "friend," and we are glad to know that he may call us "friends."

"It is a delicate matter to speak of 'Life;" for after all how little do we know of what is ill or well. How little of this wonderous stream of cataracts and pools this stream of life that rises in a world unknown and flows to that mysterious sea whose shores the foot of one who comes, has never pressed. How little of this life we know, this straggling way of light 'twixt gloom; this strip of land by verdure clad, between the unknown wastes; this throbbing moment filled with love and pain. This dream that lies between the shadowy shores of birth and death. We stand upon the verge of crumbling time. We love, we hope, we disappear. Again we mingle with the dust and the "knot intrinsicate" forever falls apart.

"But this we know—a noble life enriches all the world. Such a life we commemorate to-night; a life which has been so characteristically simple and so juggedly honest; and how comforting, consoling and how sweet it must be to you, to know that in the white evening of your life when the rays of the declining sun are bathing you in a golden glory, so magnetic has been your life, that these, your friends, are here to pass with you an evening which must be to you one of joy and thanksgiving. And what thrill of pride must fill the hearts of your kin to know the full measure of the love and esteem in which you are held by those who know you best; what joy they must feel when those among whom your life has been spent thus show their appreciation of your acquaintanceship and friendship.

"You are one of the pioneers who

It further states that Moore called her "vile epithets and accused her of associating with other men which Miss Adoree denied."

NEXT MOVE NOW UP TO FRANCE

SCENE OF REPARATION MUDDLE SHIFTS TO PARIS

OUTLOOK MUCH BETTER

Great Secrecy Surrounds New English Note—Jusserand to Explain U. S. Position

London, July 21—The next step in the reparations' muddle was again up to France today.

The English draft of the note to Germany, dispatched to the allied governments, France, Italy, Japan, and the United States, awaits their replies, but only the reply of France is causing any apprehension.

The contents of the note and the accompanying memorandum has been well guarded with official silence and all of the nations receiving a copy also have been requested to reveal nothing of its contents.

It was semi-officially stated that the draft follows the plan of reparations as made by Premier Stanley Baldwin in his recent speech in the House of Commons. There has been no other official or semi-official disclosures of its contents.

The Daily Express this morning says that it is understood, however, that the memorandum points out that England cannot demand that Germany end passive resistance because the British government believes the occupation of the Ruhr is illegal. The suggestion is made, the Express says, that the question of legality of the occupation, be submitted to the Hague tribunal.

Official circles were optimistic over the latest developments in the situation.

Paris, July 21—The French foreign office received the draft of the British note to Germany with its accompaning memoranda at noon today. The contents of the note and the letter wil lnot be disclosed, it was stated.

Washington, July 21—In the course of negotiations and diplomatic exchanges that will take place between London, Paris, and Berlin within the next few months in effecting an adjustment of the reparations problem, Premier Poincare will be personally advised of the position of this government by Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, it was learned here today.

Jusserand will close the embassy here Tuesday and will sail from New York to France the following day. Immediately upon his arrival he will proceed to Paris and confer with officials of the foreign office and will acquaint, with personal conference, the feeling of this country towards the occupation of the Ruhr, and the official reaction to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's suggestion to find an amicable solution to the reparation tangle.

Between fifteen and twenty farmers in Nodaway County have reported cases of chinch bugs so far. Only two cases have been reported from the north part of the County.

Manila, July 21.—President Harding today was cabled by Manuel Quezon and former speaker, Roxas, accusing Governor General Wood of the Philippine Islands with violating the "fundamental laws of the land and other existing laws," and stated the joint resignations "by no means implies an attack against the sovereignty of the United States or your administration."

They also notified the President of their intentions to send delegates to lay before him facts of the case. Quezon's visit to General Wood gave rise to the rumor that some plans of settlement were under consideration. It later developed, however, that he was inquiring about the rumors that martial law would be declared, but was told by Wood that no such steps were contemplated.

EATING AND IMAGINATION.

The return of the picnic season suggests what a tremendous effect imagination plays on human appetite.

If you should take a picnic luncheon of sandwiches, boiled eggs, cake, etc., and serve it in the regular dining room, the folks would complain because of the sameness of the diet. But you take the same luncheon out to some pretty and inaccessible spot, and serve it under inspiring conditions of natural beauty, and folks fall to and eat with appetite and enjoy it better than a full course dinner at home.

Then if you put in a few touches of bacon, fish, etc., cooked over a little fire, the picnickers become enthusiastic, and declare they never tasted anything like it.

Fastidious people find their appetite spoiled if they are compelled to eat in some restaurant where conditions are unattractive. They will not eat half a meal even though the food might be well cooked.

But if you give these folks the same food in a prettier setting, with artistic china and table furniture, their appetite is sharpened and they eat with relish. This accounts for the success of some restaurants over others.

There is such a thing as people getting too fastidious about matters, and trifling with food just because some little accessory fails to conform to dainty standards. Such people need more vigorous outdoor exercise, to give them something of the stimulation that comes to the picnic party after a vigorous excursion in the open air.

Still as people grow more refined, it must be expected that they will be influenced to some extent by the appearance of food and service. The housewife who knows how to throw the touch of daintiness about her concoctions will improve the appetites of her family and her own.

It is well enough to mix pleasure with business but, if it is done too often, there is danger of running out of business.

Picture the small boy who has to take a music lesson in the summer time when the gang is going swimming.

While a large part of France is over in Germany trying to collect reparations, another large part of France is buying wheat to keep them going until next year. France may be collecting a little money, but there is every indication that it would be cheaper to let the job out to a collection agency, and go ahead with her regular business.

A conference of Missouri democrats, it is said, will be called by state chairman, Frank Farris to meet in Jefferson City early in September. Democrats generally believe that next year will be a democratic year and it is proposed to canvass the situation fully and carefully. Senator Reed, who opposed Farris for the championship, will be invited to deliver an address.

The State Highway Commission is doing its best to construct as many miles of road as possible during the season and is making good headway. Altogether, there are now 440 different road projects in course of construction in the state and these will aggregate a cost of more than $30,000,000 when completed. The state will secure about $17,900,000 of federal aid. Some of the states have lost part of their federal aid through failure to do the work in compliance with the government rules and regulations, but Missouri has lost nothing in this way so far. The only thing that hinders the Missouri program now is a scarcity of labor, many available men having gone to the harvest fields. Those counties which fail to secure the right of way and meet the highway requirements delay work in those counties, but the work goes on somewhere else.

A lot of superficial suggestions are made for raising the price of wheat. The best way to help the farmer is to give him an equal show in the markets of the world, lower transportation costs and give him a chance to buy his machinery, supplies and living at a lower cost, which means a revision of the tariff in the interest of the consuming public instead of in the interest of the manufacturers. Most of the panaceas suggested by the politicians are on a par with the proposition to make the farmer rich by loaning him more money and making it easy to borrow. What he wants, is not a chance to get deeper in debt, but a chance to make money enough to put him on his feet. The ability to borrow money is a great privilege at times and a valuable moral asset but nobody ever got rich on borrowed money unless he could make more than the interest and taxes. Neither will the farmer get rich through artificial prices. He must have a market that is fundamentally sound and founded on something more substantial than political expediency.

May we have the unmeasured pleasure of coming here on each recurring year for many yet to come to spend with you a happy and profitable hour. Sweet dreams of the past, she cannot destroy,
And which come in the night time of sorrow, and care,
To bring back the features Joy used to wear.
Long, long be my heart with such memories filled,

But the scent of the roses will cling round it still."

What we want are more first rate thinkers and fewer second rate philosophers.

Truth is never afraid of being cross examined.

The man who attends strictly to his own business has his hands full.

Why criticize the women on the way they dress. Perhaps if we were of their sex we might be just as bad.

It seems the average man would rather worry about the faults of his neighbors than his own.

Under a ruling superseded by the new regulations, manufacturers of fruit juices have not been held responsible for any natural reaction of the liquid.

Professional Siwanoy Country Club, Mount Vernon, N. Y. A consistent place winner in big tournaments. In British Open, 1921, he finished third, two points behind Hutchison and Wethered, tied for first.

Here are the commonest faults which any player can correct for himself with intelligent practice: Swaying the body, hurrying the stroke, making the back swing with a jerk, getting the body into the stroke before the club head meets the ball, using clubs not suited to the individual's style of play, trying to outdrive the other fellow, and using too long a swing for iron shots instead of using the wrists and forearms.

Methodist Church

We are sorry to say that Miss Mildred Stafford took a turn for the worse and was taken to Rochester, Minn, Wednesday.

Our congregation suffers the loss of two very fine families this month in the going west of Ernest Bainum's and Ross Lincoln's. They go seeking better health conditions and we all hope they succeed in finding them.

The Wesleyans at their meeting Tuesday ordered the bath tub installed, thus completing the parsonage improvements. The entire amount, including what the Myrtle Tree women contributed will total $450. This places the property up among the first rank of parsonages of the St. Joseph district.

There will be preaching at Pickering Sunday morning and at Myrtle Tree at 8:15 p. m. At the close of the evening service the Myrtle Tree folks will vote for Lay Delegates to the annual conference. The young folks class netted $22 with their ice cream supper Friday evening. The greater part of the cost of the new piano is in sight.

Bro. Knouse will preach at the union service next Sunday evening. Don't forget the time, 8:15 ,on the Methodist church lawn.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTIONS

How do swimmers breathe differently from other athletes?

Answered by
BILL BACHRACH

Illinois Athletic Club; most famous and successful of all swimming coaches; has turned out champions such as Johnny Weissmuller, world's fastest swimmer; Norman Ross, Sibyl Bauer, Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Arthur Raithel, Bob Skelton, and Mike McDermott.

In other lines of athletic activity the athlete breathes at will and in the natural manner, through the nose. He breathes involuntarily, requiring no conscious thought for the process. In swimming the athlete can breathe only when his head is above water, and never under any conditions does he inhale through his nose. He inhales through his mouth and exhales through his nose, and he does it by conscious effort. The land athlete takes all the air he can get. The water athlete takes short gulps of air, never gorges his lungs, and never exhales the last bit of air. He keeps a little so that if a wave makes him miss an inhale he has something to go on and does not suffer.

CAPTIAN HYSLOP IS EIGHTY YEARS OLD

VETERAN BUSINESS MAN WORKING HARD IN OFFICE TODAY

BEEN HERE 48 YEARS

Established First Boot and Shoe Shop in Maryville—Was State Representative

Captain Charles Hyslop, veteran business man of Maryville, is eighty years old today. When interviewed this morning by a Democrat-Forum reporter, Mr. Hyslop said, "I am going to work just as hard today as any other day; perhaps a little harder."

Mr. Hyslop is of Scottish stock. His mother and father both came to America in a sail boat when it took ninety days to make the trip. He was born in Penyan, N. Y., soon after his parents landed here. True to the Scottish tradition, his father continued in the raising of sheep when he got to America, and it was through this pursuit that the family was brought farther west.

Forty-eight years ago, young Hyslop came to Missouri and settled in Maryville. That spring he and John Shreve, who had preceded Hyslop to this town by about six months, set up the first exclusive boot and shoe shop in Maryville. He remained in the mercantile business for about two years, when he sold out and went into the real estate business. He has been dealing in land and loans ever since. For eight years he was public administrator and was representative from this district in the Forty-Eighth General Assembly of Missouri in 1914-15.

Although Mr. Hyslop served in the Civil War, that was not where he got his title of "Captain". He served as a non-commissioned officers with the 7th Missouri Cavalry on the side of the Union. He enlisted at Prairie Grove, Ark., and served almost three years before he got his discharge. During his service he was wounded in the right chest. The wound never gave him any trouble that he remembered unless it was the weakness of that lung which was the cause of his contracting pneumonia ten years ago. He served three years in the state militia in 1882 and it was during this service that he was promoted to the rank of Captain.

Restrain Reduction of Insurance Rates

Cole County Judge Restrain Ben Hyde, Mo. Insurance Commissioner From Effecting Reduction.

Jefferson City, July 21.—A temporary writ of injunction was granted yesterday by Judge Henry Westhues of the Cole County circuit court restraining State Superintendent of Insurance Ben C. Hyde from taking any further steps in the enforcement of his order for a reduction of 15 per cent in fire, tornado, hail and lightning insurance rates, until the matter has been passed upon by the court.

The rate reduction order was issued by Superintendent Hyde July 10, and affected approximately 150 stock insurance companies doing business in Missouri.

Judge Westheus made his temporary writ returnable Sept. 24. This acts as a stay on any further proceedings by Hyde in the enforcement of the 15 per cent reduction order and calls off automatically the hearing that he had set on the order July 26. Application for the injunction was filed in the circuit court late Thursday afternoon by Hogsett & Boyle of Kansas City, representing the Agricultural Insurance Company of New York and all the other companies affected.

Issuance of the temporary writ in the 45 per cent reduction order does not affect, however, or interrupt in any way, the taking of testimony now in progress in Chicago in the 10 per cent reduction order before the special commissioner, John I. Williamson of the Cole County circuit court.

This order was issued in November, 1922. It is alleged in the petition for the injunction in the 15 per cent reduction order that Superintendent Hyde made the order without notice to the companies and that enforcement of it would be equivalent to confiscation of the property of the defendant companies without due process of law. His authority to make such an order is attacked generally.

The wheat crop in Nodaway County is now about all harvested, and promises the largest yield ever known in the county. It settles the fact that Nodaway County is a good wheat country, and hereafter we shall probably see very little money sent out of the county for flour.
